MAEBOOBAZI

Malbook Ali born in 1951 is an artist of substantial credibility and a pioneer of this particular genre of art and has shown excellence in every medium he has explored. He considered Pakistan's foremost woodcut print maker who has devoted maximum portion of his creative voyage exploring varied dimensions of wood cut. I have been making woodcut. Since 1968. He spent almost 5 decades inventing technical variations, vibrant and varied color combinations and wood compositions. Since the time he graduated from the national college of arts Lahore in 1972 his thesis project was entirely based on wood cut. Malbook continued to work in the same medium and with unrelaxed zeal. Today MAEBOOBAZI is considered the only Pakistani woodcut print maker who has experimented 100 hues in one print, who has devoted his entire career to this five hundred year old technique. His dedication and passion can be witnessed through his beautiful collection of works in which he has portrayed the rich cultural heritage of Lahore and has focused on preserving important landmarks. His recent visit to Europe motivated him to capture images of museum objects and the landscapes in pencil and water color. He started employing a fresh dimension and also painted the pastel. Thematically his preference resonated with the multi city of Lahore. These exquisite pastel renderings offer serene and subdued ambience and command over his creative arena with a selected palette. He has painted few verses from Quran in modern, vintage black, bronze, gold and silver. The breath taking images speak highly of intricate splendor of Arabic scriptures. Malbook Ali perhaps the only Pakistani artist who has devoted his entire career to woodcut and is religiously committed to this art form. As an original and vibrant woodcut masters he has gained immense recognition at home and abroad. He carried out prints without the use of machine thus giving each piece a personal unique regional touch. I have 27 solo exhibitions in different city of Pakistan and one international woodcut exhibition.
